Application for Reinstatement

The following requirements must be met to be eligible for reinstatement to degree-seeking status:

1. Earn a minimum cumulative 2.00 GPA in at least 12 credit hours at the 100-level or higher since loss of degree-seeking status.
2. Submit this Application for Reinstatement to the Office of Admissions along with official transcripts of all academic work completed since loss of degree-seeking status. Transcripts within the University of Alaska system do not need to be submitted.
3. If reinstatement request is granted, degree-seeking status may be requested by submitting a new Application for Admission along with the application fee to Enrollment Services. Please note that reinstatement does not guarantee subsequent admission to all majors.

Reinstated students whose UAA cumulative GPA is less than 2.00 will begin the semester on probation. Students who begin a semester on probation or continuing probation and fail to earn a semester GPA of 2.00 will lose degree-seeking status.
