

Undergraduate Anthropology Tuition Waiver Opportunity for Spring 2012!

The Anthropology Department has money for tuition credits available for undergraduate students for the spring semester 2012. Students who have completed 60 credits by September 2011 may apply for some or all of these credits to be used for anthropology courses only.

The criteria to apply for these tuition waivers are:

- You are in your junior or senior year as an Anthropology major at UAA (you will have completed at least 60 credits total by September, 2011).
- You are currently an Anthropology major.

To apply, please provide the following information in typed form:

- Name
- Student Number
- Address, telephone number, and e-mail address
- The course(s) and number of credits for which you are applying for
- The amount of tuition you are requesting (resident/non-resident)
- How many anthropology credits you have already completed in the program – how many upper division courses
- Your GPA in Anthropology courses
- A short essay (no more than 250 words) describing how an anthropology degree will help you with your career plans (academic or otherwise)

Submit it to Kathy Mills in the Anthropology Department by 5 p.m. on December 5th.

The decision will be made by the Anthropology department on December 7th.