

Paralegal Program Outcomes

At the completion of this program, students are able to:

- Demonstrate written and oral communication skills commensurate with the expectations of legal employers.
- Identify and apply the rules of professional ethics and the rules governing the unauthorized practice of law in Alaska.
- Explain standard legal terminology and foundational principles of substantive and procedural law.
- Use law library resources and commonly used legal research databases to conduct legal research.
- Synthesize legal research results and develop memoranda of legal analysis.
- Perform entry-level paralegal tasks satisfactory to an employer in a law office, corporate counsel office or government agency.

09/24/2010