September 2008

Dear 4th International Project Management Conference Attendees:

As Mayor of Anchorage and on behalf of our citizens, it is a pleasure to welcome you to the 4th International Project Management Conference. We are proud of Anchorage, a city with all the amenities of a major metropolitan area, yet with the advantage of being a few short minutes away from the wilderness. Whether you choose to get out and explore or view the spectacular surroundings from the windows of a rooftop restaurant, visiting Anchorage will be a memorable experience.

Project Management provides a framework to facilitate the rapid changes that are occurring on a global scale, and the world will rely upon your guidance to embrace the future. I hope this conference will give you an opportunity to engage in productive dialog to share ideas and strengthen your efforts to apply the best practices of Project Management.

Alaskans have always been known for their warmth and hospitality, and our citizens look forward to opportunities to share their special part of Alaska with you. The Municipality of Anchorage and the Anchorage Convention & Visitors Bureau welcome you and will assist you in any way possible to make your meeting enjoyable. I welcome you to Anchorage and wish you every success in your conference.

Sincerely,

Mark Begich
Mayor
