Safety and Emergency Procedures

What do I do if a medical emergency or injury or other emergency occurs in or near my class or office?
Call University Police at ext. 61120. Clearly report the nature and location of the emergency. Follow the instructions given by University Police or emergency responders. Emergency telephones are located throughout the campus. Familiarize yourself with the location of telephones in your building.

What are my responsibilities as a faculty/staff member?
Faculty members are expected to remain with their classes and direct their classes as instructed by the University Police, Campus Response Team, Building Manager or emergency personnel. In case of a building evacuation, keep the class together and go to the area designated. Each semester, evacuation instructions are provided to the faculty by Academic Affairs. Staff members should remain at their duty station or evacuate to the appropriate facility.

How does the University handle incidents or events such as an earthquake, blackout or weather emergency?
When an event having campus wide impact occurs, the Campus Response Team is automatically activated. The Response Team will assess the event and call for appropriate responses. For a detailed explanation of the Response Team see UAA Procedure 02:02:04 (D). Copies of UAA Procedures and Regents Policies and Regulations are available from your Dean’s Office or in the Consortium Library.

Weather Closures

How do we handle snow and weather closures?
The decision to cancel any or all UAA activities is made only by the Chancellor or designee. On snow days UAA announces any potential closures by 6 am for day classes and by 4 pm for evening classes. The Campus Response Team makes these decisions after an assessment and recommendation. A detailed explanation of the snow closure procedure can be found in UAA Procedure 02:02:04 (A), available from your Deans office or in the library.

How do I find out about closures or emergencies?
UAA utilizes a variety of communications avenues to notify staff and faculty of emergencies or closures.

A. E-Mail: Major notices are sent to the UAA distribution lists for faculty, staff and students. The uaa-community list serve is a primary distribution channel and will be used to send notification.
B. The UAA main page at http://www.uaa.alaska.edu will contain emergency information.
C. Wolf-Radio: UAA has a parking/emergency radio transmitter which operates on 1610 AM. Usually devoted to basic visitor/parking information, this radio station will be used for bulletins and warnings concerning snow closures and emergencies. This signal can be received on campus and in the surrounding area.
D. Radio/Television: UAA notifies all major broadcast outlets of closures as rapidly as possible. The broadcast of information provided is at the discretion of the broadcaster. Faculty and staff should be aware that not all outlets have 24-hour phone numbers and that UAA cannot control the content of broadcasts. We will notify broadcast outlets by 6 am for day classes and by 4 pm for evening classes. To help expedite notification of broadcast outlets to speed campus notification, please do not personally call University Police or University Relations. Check your e-mail, listen to your voice mail, and listen to broadcast outlets or tune to Wolf-Radio.
E. Recorded Telephone Messages. The UAA information number at 786-1800 is the primary recorded number for information.

What if UAA is open and I can’t meet my class or get to work?
There may be times when conditions in an individual neighborhood prevent faculty from meeting their classes. If this happens notify your Dean’s office or Department Chair as soon as possible so that students can be notified. Staff members should notify their supervisor. Keep a class roster at home or set up a phone tree in your class. It is the responsibility of the faculty member and the department to notify students if individual classes are canceled when the university remains open.

What if students can’t make it to class?
Faculty should keep in mind that conditions can vary dramatically around the Anchorage bowl during major snowfalls. We make every effort to keep UAA open and operating in our northern environment, but we recognize that there may be times when students, like faculty, face local conditions that make travel impractical.
