

Sylvia Berg Drowley

Sylvia Berg Drowley is a registered nurse currently residing in San Francisco, California. She was born and raised in Juneau, Alaska. Mrs. Drowley graduated from Juneau High School and the University of Washington with a bachelor's degree in nursing. She married D.D. Drowley and had three sons.

Mrs. Drowley worked at a variety of hospitals all over the United States including, Government Hospital (Juneau, AK), St. Ann's Hospital (Juneau, AK), Telfair Memorial Hospital (Savannah, GA) and the Children's Hospital (San Francisco, CA). She also volunteered with the Alaska Crippled Children's Association.

Her sister, Grace Berg Schaible, created the Sylvia Berg Drowley Scholarship in honor of her, due to Sylvia's dismay at seeing two of her own nursing school classmates have to leave school due to the lack of sufficient funds.
