Intercultural Fluency	Personal, Professional, and Community Responsibility	I am concerned that there is nothing that indicates student's ability apply their learning in pracitcal setting, especially since we have so many professional programs. The 4th competency is the ony one that speaks to that point by including at least the word "professional" in the language.

Intercultural Competency	Personal, Professional, and Community Responsibility
Intercultural Responsiveness	Personal and Social Responsibility	Intercultural Responsiveness does not suggest preferential tone of fluency and competency. When engaging other cultures, I do not believe we should suggest competency or fluency has been accomplished. This seems elitist and maybe a little arrogant. Effective and appropriate interaction can be accomplished as a respectful response. This core competency is indicating only an introduction to intercultural skills.
Intercultural Fluency	Personal, Professional, and Community Responsibility
Intercultural Competency	Personal and Social Responsibility	I was never a fan of using a term to define itself such as used in Effective Communication.

Intercultural Competency	Personal, Professional, and Community Responsibility
Intercultural Responsiveness	Personal and Social Responsibility	What is "intercultural" as opposed to simply "Cultural Awareness"? Inter- meaning between. Which is a false dichotomy. I don't have 1 culture, I have a mesh of many cultures. All culture is a mesh of cultures (with dominance). The whole competency should be rethought, imho.
